Sun Valley Gardens is a very progressive club. It has been in operation just under two years, and now has over one hundred members. There are thirty-eight acres of grounds, and the farmers on the adjoining lands have given their permission to the club members to use them for hiking. Public relations are exceedingly good. Often the club members pitch in and give the neighboring farmers help in harvesting their crops when help is scarce, so naturally the farmers are on very good terms with the members.

Several cabins are being built on the property; there is a concrete swimming pool, overnight accommodations, tenting area, volleyball court, badminton court, swings and a dart board.

These pictures will also acquaint you with Sun Valley Garden's fine group leader and his charming wife.
